Argentyn 23

Bio-Active Colloidal Silver

WHAT IT IS:

- An extremely potent colloidal silver product

WHY YOU NEED IT:

- Important for patients looking to kill viruses, bacteria, fungi, yeast and Lyme on contact
- Knocks out the “worst of the worst” pathogens, including MRSA staph
- Works faster than nearly all others colloidal silver products
- Has a 99.9999% kill rate in less than just minutes
- Nanotechnology allows rapid penetration into the body
- Targets patients needing active infection treatment
- Good for patients wanting to prevent disease
- Safe and non-toxic at recommended doses
- Safe for internal and external use

HOW IT HELPS:

When comparing colloidal silver products, the most important measures for evaluation are safety and efficacy...no matter the hype or the claims.

In independent studies, Argentyn 23 safely kills more types of “bugs” faster and more completely than most other colloidal silver product available today.

For thousands of years, silver has been used by healers and scientists for its natural antibiotic effects. Silver coins used to be tossed into water barrels to keep the water potable. Eventually, silver was finely ground and suspended in water (colloidal) and used as a medical therapy.

However, for silver to really work and to be safe, simply mixing powdered silver and water is not enough.

The technology behind Argentyn 23 involves the use of nanomized and specially energized silver particles that can quickly get to where you need it most. Argentyn 23 can be used both externally and internally for rapid results.

It is no secret that the bacteria are getting stronger and traditional antibiotics are working less and less. When patients get sick today, they are falling faster and harder, with a prolonged recovery.

Even the “worst of the worst” bacteria have no protection against Argentyn 23. This product should be used early and often when any significant infection strikes you or someone you know.

For acute infections: Take one teaspoon orally immediately and then repeat this dose up to seven times daily until the infection resolves.

For chronic infections: Take one teaspoon five times daily. When symptoms start to improve, reduce the dose and frequency by half.

For all day protection (during meetings, travel, testing, school, sick contacts), one teaspoon of Argentyn 23 by mouth three times daily can help boost critical immune protection when you cannot afford to be sick or if you are in contact (close quarters) with a person who has a contagious infection.

To support clear, healthy skin, spray Argentyn 23 onto the affected area (for example, acne pimples or rosacea) two to three times daily immediately after washing.

Argentyn 23 is very safe. Toxicologists have estimated that if you took 72,000 teaspoons in your lifetime, you would still be at less than half the maximum allowable dosing.

Argentyn 23 should be in your travel bag, purse, desk drawer, medicine cabinet and first aid kit.

There is one in mine.
