BiOcean

Marine Plasma for Oral and IV Therapies

WHAT IT IS:

- Cold filtered seawater from pristine ocean sourcing

WHY YOU NEED IT:

- Important for patients with fatigue and acute/chronic illnesses
- Supports patients looking for maximal athletic performance
- Perfect for re-hydration and re-mineralization
- Good for immune support and patients with recurrent infections
- Targets patients with mood disorders
- Supports patients wanting healthy, clear skin
- Important for thyroid health and balance
- Good for patients needing support for arthritis and osteoporosis
- Natural pH booster, alkalizer
- Safe in pregnancy, breastfeeding

HOW IT HELPS:

When doctors think about the perfect IV fluid, it would match human plasma. French biologist, Dr. Rene Quinton, discovered over 100 years ago that pure seawater was nearly identical to mammalian blood plasma. European doctors have used seawater as a medicine for decades.

For centuries, physicians and healers have harnessed the power of the ocean to help heal their patients. Marine-based therapies have been used to treat many diseases because of seawater's ability to encourage cellular regeneration and nutrition.

In essence, we are 'walking seawater' because human plasma is nearly identical to seawater. During World War II, Navy doctors used seawater for blood transfusions when they ran out of human blood. This was possible because seawater contains every organic mineral in the proper ratios needed by humans. Ocean water is rich in magnesium, potassium, calcium, selenium as well as the trace minerals iron, copper, zinc, manganese, chromium, and 81 other minerals.

Why cold filtered seawater? Can't you just add water to some sea salt?

Actually, no.

Ocean water is a three dimensional structure, filled with proteins, minerals and fluids. Once dehydrated, that complex structure is lost and cannot be reconstituted to its original matrix.

It's sort of like powdered eggs. They never taste the same as real eggs because the three dimensional structure of the egg is destroyed during dehydration and this affects how the powdered eggs feel and taste in our mouths.

Traditional healers have always known of the power of marine plasma; hence the saying, 'Take your troubles to the waters.'

With BiOcean, the healing power of the sea can be infused directly into our bodies intravenously. Most patients will feel an immediate effect, especially those looking for improvements in health, energy and vitality. After an IV infusion, BiOcean therapy can continue by using the oral ampules at home or on the road.

BiOcean should be part of everyone's daily core health regimen to maintain health, restore health and improve athletic performance.

Usual Dosage: Take one ampule two to three times daily as needed.
